zen is famous for koans called kong ans in korean and in this book those bizarre and seemingly unanswerable questions zen masters pose to their students to check their realization such as what is the sound of one hand clapping fear of koans keeps some people from ever giving zen practice a try but here through the experience of seeing a modern zen master work with his students you can see what koan training is really like it is a skillful lively practice for attaining wisdom this book presents the system of ten koans that zen master seung sahn came to call the ten gates these koans represent the basic types one will encounter in any course of study each of the ten gates or koans is illuminated by actual interchanges between zen master seung sahn and his students that show what the practice is all about it is above all a process of coming to trust one's own wisdom and of manifesting that wisdom in every koan like situation life presents us with for more information on the author zen master seung sahn visit his website at kwanumzen.com

empty house explores the origins of korean zen and traces its history as a living tradition right up to the present day while chinese zen was effectively wiped out by the cultural revolution the korean tradition maintains the original teaching style of the lin chi school the primary teaching device still used in zen halls today is the hwadu this means the korean zen tradition is closer to the original chinese style in both method and spirit than its japanese counterpart empty houses explores the hwadu teaching device and presents biographical materials on the most notable korean zen masters together with selected teachings and poems kusan sunim 1901-83 was one of the greatest modern masters of korean zen as the zen master of the songgwang monastery he preached the sermons and dharma talks collected here first published in 1985 and long out of print these pithy down to earth refreshingly practical guides to meditation and spiritual cultivation are now again available to followers of buddhism and the way of zen a brief history of korean buddhism a fascinating account of life in a korean monastery and a biography of master kusan provide important background information and the glossary of korean and general buddhist terms is a valuable tool for readers new to the field of buddhist studies of special interest is master kusan s presentation of a meditation practice unique to korean zen the hwadu zen students familiar with koan riddles and the just sitting practice of japanese zen will be eager to learn of this distinctively korean approach to meditation and to read master kusan s detailed instructions for its practice master kusan also offers a interpretation of the classic ten oxherding pictures illustrated by the ink paintings of living national treasure sokchong sunim sōn japanese zen has been the dominant form of buddhism in korea from medieval times to the present a handbook of korean zen practice a mirror on the sōn school of buddhism sōn ga kwigam was the most popular guide for sōn practice and life ever published in korea and helped restore buddhism to popularity after its lowest point in korean history it was compiled before 1569 by sōsan hyujōng 1520 1604 later famed as the leader of a monk army that helped defend korea against a massive japanese invasion in 1592 in addition to succinct quotations from sutras the text also contained quotations from selected chinese and korean works together with hyujōng s explanations because of its brevity and organization the work proved popular and was reprinted many times in korea and japan before 1909 a handbook of korean zen practice commences with the ineffability of the enlightened state and after a tour through doctrine and practice it returns to its starting point the doctrinal rationale for practice that leads to enlightenment is based on the mahayana awakening of faith but the practice hyujōng enjoins readers to undertake is very different a method of meditation derived from the kongan japanese koan called hwadu chinese huatou or point of the story the story being the kongan this method was developed by dahui zonggao 1089 1163 and was imported into korea by chinul 1158 1210 the most famous hwadu is the mu no answer by zhaozhou to the question does a dog have a buddha nature hyujōng warns of pitfalls in this practice such as the delusion that one is already enlightened a proper understanding of doctrine is required before practicing hwadu practice also requires faith and an experienced teacher hyujōng outlines the specifics of practice such as rules of conduct and chanting and mindfulness of the buddha and stresses the requirements for living the life of a monk at the end of the text he returns to the hwadu the need for a teacher and hence the importance of lineage he sketches out the distinctive methods of practice of the chief sōn chinese chan lineages his final warning is not to be attached to the text the version of the text translated here is the earliest and the longest extant it was translated into korean from chinese by one of hyujōng s students to aid korean readers the present volume contains a brief history of hwadu practice and theory a life of hyujōng and a summary of the text plus a detailed annotated translation it should be of interest to practitioners of meditation and students of east asian buddhism and korean history the sacred radiance of our original nature never darkens it has shined forth since beginningless time do you wish to enter the gate that leads to this simply do not give rise to conceptual thinking zen master so sahn 1520 1604 is a towering figure in the history of korean zen in this treasure text he presents in simple yet beautiful language the core principles and teachings of zen each section opens with a quotation drawn from classical scriptures teachings and anecdotes followed by the author s commentary and verse originally written in chinese the text was translated into korean in the mid twentieth century by the celebrated korean monk boep joeng an american zen monk hyon gak has translated it into english a major figure in the transmission of zen to the west zen master seung sahn was known for his powerful teaching style which was direct surprising and often humorous he taught that zen is not about achieving a goal but about acting spontaneously from don t know mind it is from this before thinking nature he taught that true compassion and the desire to serve others naturally arises this collection of teaching stories talks and spontaneous dialogues with students offers readers a fresh and immediate encounter with one of the great zen masters of the twentieth century a celebration of 1500 years of korean zen poetry the first book in english devoted exclusively to modern korean buddhism this work provides a comprehensive exploration for scholars students and serious readers makers of modern korean buddhism focuses on three key areas buddhist reform zen revival and the interrelationship of religion history and politics in korea the modern period in buddhism begins in earnest in the late nineteenth century during the closing years of the chosŏn dynasty which was characterized by a repressive brand of neo confucianism buddhist reformers arose to seek change in both buddhism and korean society at large the work begins with a look at five of these reformers and their thought and work the zen revival that began at the end of the nineteenth century is covered from that period to contemporary times through an exploration of the life and thought of important zen masters the influence of japanese buddhist missionaries the emergence of korean engaged buddhism known as minjung buddhism and the formation of modern buddhist scholarship in korea are discussed as well this outstanding collection will be highly valued by the scholarly community for the way it deals comprehensively and insightfully with an important though relatively unexplored topic in the modern era steven heine author of zen skin zen marrow will the real zen buddhism please stand up jin y park is associate professor of philosophy and religion at american university she is the author of buddhism and postmodernity zen huayan and the possibility of buddhist postmodern ethics and the editor of several books including buddhisms and deconstructions chinul 1158 1210 was the founder of the korean tradition of zen he provides one of the most lucid and accessible accounts of zen practice and meditation to be found anywhere in east asian literature tracing back the radiance an abridgment of buswell s korean approach to zen the collected works of chinul combines an extensive introduction to chinul s life and thought with translations of three of his most representative works the buddhist master chinul 1158 1210 is regarded as one of the greatest son zen monks in korea in this penetrating analysis of chinul s writings about son the esoteric world of the buddhist meditation experience becomes more accessible to readers in this engagingly written account martine batchelor relays the challenges a new ordinand faces in adapting to buddhist monastic life the spicy food the rigorous daily schedule the distinctive clothes and undergarments and the cultural misunderstandings inevitable between a french woman and her korean colleagues she reveals as well the genuine pleasures that derive from solitude meditative training and communion with the deeply religiouswhom the buddhists call good friends batchelor has also recorded the oral history autobiography of her teacher the eminent nun son gyong sunim leader of the zen meditation hall at naewonsa it is a profoundly moving often light hearted story that offers insight into the challenges facing a woman on the path to enlightenment at the beginning of the twentieth century original english translations of eleven of son gyong sunim s poems on buddhist themes make a graceful and thought provoking coda to the two women s narratives western readers only familiar with buddhist ideas of female inferiority will be surprised by the degree of spiritual equality and authority enjoyed by nuns in korea while american writings on buddhism increasingly emphasize the therapeutic self help and comforting aspects of buddhist thought batchelor s text offers a bracing and timely reminder of the strict discipline required in traditional buddhism
